CAPT. JACK CRAWFORD C. L. MADDY APPOINTED

Chief Attraction For Wood County
Sunday School Rally.

In order to have a big day you must have a man of national reputation. The committee managing the Sunday School Rally July 4th, has secured the man—Captain Jack Crawford, the "Poet Scout." He is a genius brimful of love, sunshine, poetry and patriotism. He can talk heart to heart to men, women, boys and girls. He hails from New Mexico and they call him "The Robbie Burns of the West."

Since he entered the lyceum field he has substituted for such men as Gen. John B. Gordon, Sam Jones and Gov. Bob Taylor.

After hearing him Sam Jones wrote: "Captain Jack Crawford is all right—he shoots straight, he is a combination circus, wild west show, poet and preacher."

He is mostly backbone—the rest of him is hair. Come out and hear him. If you don't think he is worth the price, write to me and I will write back and tell you that you are a fool."

W. L. Davidson, manager of the National Chautauque Bureau, says: "Since the death of Sam Jones, Captain Jack Crawford is the only man on the American platform of the same caliber."

Within a year he addressed a theatre full of newsboys in Cleveland and held them for more than an hour.

Well, it is safe to say that old Wood county will give him a hearing such as he seldom gets even in the great cities.

Probably the most of the politicians who are advocating a third term for the President know he will not take it but think it will be pretty safe as a matter of record to point out at home that they were for him anyhow.

DISOBEYED ORDERS.

Motorman Main Says His Action Caused Wreck.

Motorman George Main of the limited, which ran into the local car on the interurban south of the car barns Sunday night, at the coroner's inquest Saturday, stated that he and he alone was to blame for the accident. He stated that he received orders to pass the local at the car barns, that he also received orders to pass two other cars and to follow another. He received these orders at Maumee.

When he reached the car barns, south bound, he saw a car on the siding and presumed this was the local he was to pass there. No conductor gave him the "high ball" (a term applied to the signal the conductors give the motormen of other cars to indicate that the track is clear so far as they are concerned.)

Prosecutor J. E. Ladd and Coroner Jones conducted the examination and T. F. Conley took an official stenographic report of the same.

His story of the affair, as reported by the Sentinel, is substantially that after he passed the barns he was running at about 35 miles an hour and saw the local car some distance ahead. He had orders to follow another car until he passed it and he presumed the car in sight was that car. He did not realize that it was coming toward him until it was a very short distance from him when he reversed his power and ran back into the baggage room. He said that some times, new conductors or conductors when busy in a booth taking a phone dispatch failed to give the high ball when everything was all right and that sometimes, therefore, the cars went on without them. He said, however, that this was contrary to orders.

Supt. W. L. Smith of the T. U. & I. was the first witness and explained in detail the operation of cars and the dispatching system. The orders issued to the two ill-fated cars were on exhibition and indicated that the local car had received orders at Merrill to pass the limited car at the car barns and that the other had received similar orders at Maumee.

Supt. Smith also stated that he had discussed the incident with Motorman Dildine of the local who explained that he did not discover the coming limited to avert a collision and that he reversed his car and stepped back into the smoking apartment.

It seems that the local was delayed somewhere along the line and that it did not reach the car barns when expected. The accident occurred between six forty-five and six fifty and was just at twilight. The north bound car had not its head light burn. (Continued on Eighth Page.)

SUDDEN DEATH

John Parkason's Summons to the Other World.

John Parkason of Haskins, dropped dead at his home in Haskins on Saturday, May 11, 1907 at 10:20 a. m. He was feeling much better when the summons came.

He was 74 years old last August and was a native of England. He came to this country however, when quite a young man. He was married three times, his third wife being Mrs. Lucinda Robinson of Bowling Green, to whom he was wed October 11th, last. He was a Civil war veteran, being a member of the 3d Ohio Cavalry.

He leaves his wife and four children: Mrs. John Simmons of Bowling Green; Mrs. Ernest Downs of Waterville; Isaac Parkason of Waterville; and Bert Parkason, who runs the old home farm near Haskins.

FRACTURED HIS SKULL

Aged Man Struck by Large Piece of Stump.

On Thursday last as workmen were blasting stumps for the Lima & Toledo traction line on the Craftchick farm near Haskins, John Rudolph, who was standing about 150 feet away, was struck on the head by a large root and had his skull fractured.

He died within an hour without regaining consciousness. He would have been 80 years old May 21st. His wife died about a year ago. He leaves one son, Gus, who resides on the old home farm which is about 80 rods distant from the scene of the accident. The funeral was held Sunday at 10 a. m., Rev. Caskey of the Reform church officiating, interment at Union Hill.

SCHOOL RALLY DAY

Pupils of the Township Schools will Have Annual Outing.

The township schools will hold their annual rally on Saturday following the close of school, May 25th. Last year a very enjoyable time was had by those present, and it is the desire of the board of education that this be made still better, if possible.

The program will begin at 10 a. m. Tables will be provided for the picnic dinner, and all are requested to bring along cups for coffee which will be made in quantity and furnished to all who desire it. After dinner the program, made up by the school children will be furnished, and a speech will be given by Prof. A. B. Graham of Columbus. Prof. Graham is the man who so captivated his audience at the Farmers' Institute last spring. All will be delighted to hear him again.

Athletic contests are arranged for the afternoon, and a trip to Fort Meigs and other historical sites has been planned.

It is hoped that all the patrons of the schools will be present and help to make this day one long to be remembered.

C. E. STINEBAUGH,
Superintendent of Schools.

KUCHAPASGOUCHEGAN.

And Five Other "Big Injuns" Deed
Property to Son.

A whole history of the Maumee valley was told by a short deed filed in the county recorder's office Saturday morning, says the Toledo News-Bee. The deed conveyed some 4,000 acres from six chiefs of the Ottawa tribe to their "Beloved adopted son, Whitmore Knaggs." It was executed at Detroit in the year 1797.

Antonette Knaggs, the granddaughter of Whitmore Knaggs, presented the deed for record. It was on record in Detroit and in Monroe, for this county was once a part of Wayne county, Mich., and later of Monroe county, Mich., but the deed had never been filed in Lucas county, Ohio.

The names of the six chiefs may be interesting. They are: Negie, Tongagaky, Shemedack, Missoshouas, Willanasse and last, but not least, Kuchapasgouchegan.

Some of the original grant which lies along the shore of the Maumee river between Miami and the Terminal bridge has passed from the heirs of Whitmore Knaggs, but a large part is still held by Antonette Knaggs and is very valuable.

Whitmore Knaggs was the son of a British officer and found favor with the Indians in the early days when Ft. Miami guarded the Maumee valley. The deed recites that Anthony Wayne destroyed a house built by Whitmore Knaggs when, with his avenging army he swept the hostile red men up under the guns of Ft. Miami and slew them in plain sight of the British, who were powerless but willing to aid the savages.

Knaggs acted as Indian agent for the Ottawas for a long time. The land in the deed is described by bushes, trees and by the location of Ft. Miami, as it is called. The ill-fated house which fell under the devastating hand of Wayne is also a boundary mark.

DEATH OF PIONEER.

David Finkenbeiner, one of the oldest citizens of the county, died on Monday.

He was born in Cumberland county, Pa., April 26, 1818, being 89 years old at the time of his death. When a lad of seven years he moved to Tuscarawas county, Ohio, with his parents, and there in 1846 he was married to Miss Susan Snyder.

Mr. Finkenbeiner was a soldier in the rebellion. He first went out with the 14th O. V. I. and then, as a veteran, entered the 21st O. V. I., serving with honor throughout the many fierce conflicts endured by that regiment.
